*For Company F: Minimum increased by 20%. Maximum increased by 10%. Employees at top of salary range received up to allowable maximum only and therefore did not receive full benefit of 20% salary increase.

For Company G: Co. official reported that an average 18% was given to employees since previous salary survey was conducted. This amount combines both merit and general increase; the amounts granted for each could not be separated out. The range of increases granted was from 10% to 22%.

For Company I: Co. plan has averaged 3% step increments; one step increase per year is granted until maximum on schedule is reached.

Remember to: 1) Account for all companies used in previous survey; 2) indicate zero if no increases were granted; 3) report all salary increases (except those for promotions) which were granted by a company; 4) confirm that increases reported in no part reflect changes to fringe benefits; 5) report effective dates of increases.
